

Based on the Book of James, You Make Me Crazy is a series about relationships, but more specifically, it's a series about the kind of communication that makes relationships healthy.

Week 1: Three Keys to Getting Along with Others (1:19)

Be quick to listen, slow to speak, slow to get angry. If we could do that, we could improve our communication skills in all of our relationships 1000%.

Week 2: How to Tame Your Tongue (3:1-12)

The tongue is like a poison. And a fire. And if we can tame it and control our words by letting the Holy Spirit control our thoughts, our conversations will be far more fruitful.

Week 3: The Power of Being a Grace Giver (3:13-18)

One of the hardest things for us to do, especially when we've been hurt repeatedly, is to show grace and mercy. But when we do, it changes everything and everyone around us.

Week 4: Walk Humble: The Pathway to Peaceful Relationships (4:7-12)

At the core of how we relate to others is the issue of how we see ourselves. We have to move past pride and find humility. And in humility, we have to refuse to judge the hearts of others.

Week 5: How to Have Relationships That Heal (5:13-20)

The deepest level of any relationship is total vulnerability. At that level, we're confessing our sins to each other and speaking and praying healing words over each other.
